LI HAN-CHANG'S REMOVAL.

There seems to be some misunderstanding as to the actual wording of the Imperial edict of the 14th lostant which was supposed to remove the Viceroy Li Han-chang from his seat at Cantou. As a matter of fact, the decree in question Tental of Hainan island, Yang, Colonel Com-minimum or the Canton garrieus, and a Briga-dier-General, named Wang, had been proved in some instances, in consequence of which the two Yange were cashiered and dismissed forever from the public service, whilst the last named was only deprived of his rank and titles. It thus turns out that Li Han chang has not been dismissed in disgrace, but has simply had his prayer granted by the Emperor to retire into private life -N.C. Haily News.

> THE IMPERIAL JAPANESE PROCLAMATION.

Tokyo, 23rd April. An Imperial proclamation has been issued in which the Emperor declares that he is convinced that through peace the national prosperity will be promoted, and since his accession to the throne His Majesty repeats his former regrets at the rapture of friendly relations with China, and save that his Ministers, acting in concert with the Army and Navy and both Houses of the Diet, have done all in their power to further Imperial objects, and nothing was left undone at home to elaborate plans of action, supply money; and perfect national defences; whilst abroad, nomineful of the bitter winter cold or blazing summer heat, the expeditionary forces, triumphing over every difficulty and enduring , bardships. bore their standard everywhere victoriously, and sarned a reputation for discipline and humanity. His Majesty praises their earnest loyslty and talour, and expresses his high pleasure that negoliations have terminated and that the armistice has been prolonged to permanent constition of hostilities. His Majesty is certain that Chide has shown sincerity in repenting of breach of faith, and while addition has already been made to the glory of the Empire, yet much remains to be done during the march onward to increased civiliantion. His Majesty hopes that his loval subjects will goard against a conceited spirit, but with modesty and humility strive to perfect military defences without going to extremes, andpromote advoation and refinement without engendering effeminacy. His Majesty severely rebukes beforehand all attempts, through conceit on account of recent victories, to injure relations with or insult riendly Powers, especially China, After the exchange of ratifications friendship should be restored and endeavours made for increased harmony. His Majesty requires his subjects to respect his wishes .- N. O. Daily News.

BLACKBALLING.

Truth of the 14th olt. says :- Apropos of what was said in last week's Truth about blackballing at clubs, I hear of two recent cases in the Boyal Dorset Yacht Club, which have caused a good deal of commotion in Weymouth, and the neighbourhood. The viotims of the blackballer in this instance were two retired officers of high rapk, one of whom, when he formerly held a command in the district, was a member of the very club for which he has now been blackballed, and both are officers of the highest reputation, and well-known throughout the service. A number of the officers of the garrison who bein consequence of this event, and I should be serry to say that they are in any way to blame. There is a vast difference in this respect butween ON a West End clob of world-wide membership and a morely local club. In the latter the blackball is, more often than not, a mere instrument of personal spite or petty cliquism, and, so far as, my experience goes, it is usually employed in a way quite destructive of the harmony of club life, and inimical to the best interests of the cinb. I wonder that such clubs do not abolish the blackball sltogether, or confine its use within much narrower limits than it is at present allowed.

The food bubits of woodpeckers have been studied by Mr. F. E. I., Beal from an examination of more than 600 stomachs. He bas found that the Hairy and Downy Woodpeckers (Dryobates Swatow cillogue and pubercens) feed chiefly on harmful Canton inevots, eating also wild fruits and seeds. The Hongkong....... Flicker (Colaptes auratus) subsists largely on Victoria Peak. auts, of which insects more than 3 000 were con. | Gap Rock ...... tained in each of two stomachs. This species also eats other noxious insects and some wild fruit. The food of the Red-besded Woodpocker Bolivao (Melanerpes erythrocephalus) is largely insects. menely all harmful, with wild fruit and some corn and onltivated fruit. The Yellow Rellied Woodproker, or Sap-snoker (Sphyrapicus varius), feeds largely on the inner bark and sap of trees, eating also ants and other insects, and is the only species taking more vegetable than animal food.

The new in ulating material of Herr A. Genztch, of Vienna, is made by kenting fossil regin: -snob as exokerite, amber, and asphaltsin a closed still to 400 deg. C. nutil no farther decomposition takes place.
